Linnda Durré, Ph.D., is a psychotherapist, business consultant, international speaker, corporate trainer, writer, published author; Internet, magazine and newspaper columnist; TV and radio talk show host, and media guest. She received her B.A. in Human Development from Pacific Oaks College in Pasadena, California, and her M.A. and her Ph.D. in Psychology from California School of Professional Psychology in San Diego, now known as Alliant University.

She was a research assistant at Stanford University, working on the national evaluation of Head Start. She has three elementary teaching credentials (K-6) and has taught and/or lectured grades from nursery school to graduate school. From 1997-2003, she was an adjunct professor at Rollins College, teaching Developmental Psychology and a self-designed course, Life Transitions. She has taught and/or lectured at community colleges, a graduate institute, and alternative schools. She has served as a dissertation committee member and reader.

She consults to attorneys, serves as an expert witness in family counseling, child custody, relocation, sexual harassment and sex discrimination, child and sex abuse, and sexual abuse by therapists; the latter was the topic her 400-page doctoral dissertation, which was used to pass legislation in several states.

Dr. Durré consults and speaks on customer service training, motivation, sales techniques, stress and time management, conflict resolution, communication skills, personality disputes, dealing with difficult people at work and in life, team building, job satisfaction, diversity training, sex discrimination and harassment. She has worked with Fortune 500 companies, corporations, gove...

Testimonials

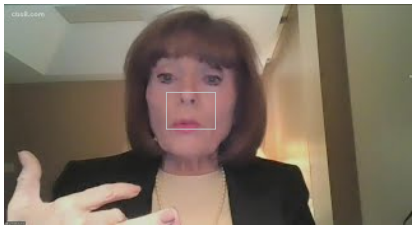
....From the moment she took the stage, Linnda connected with the audience, told interesting stories and expertly covered the topic, plus handled a few questions at the end of her talk. The energy in the audience was very high and tangible. Even better, our members returned to work with information they could use immediately.

- Principal & Founder, The People Group President.

From the moment she took the stage, Linnda connected with the audience, told interesting stories and expertly covered the topic, plus handled a few questions at the end of her talk. The energy in the audience was very high and tangible. Even better, our members returned to work with information they could use immediately...My final comment to Linnda was, “If this had been the Super Bowl, you scored the game winning touchdown!”

- Principal & Founder, The People Group.

Linnda Durre

Speech Topics


- Teambuilding
- Sports
- Personal Growth
- Peak Performance
- Motivation
- Life Balance