

DR. KEVIN AHMAAD JENKINS

INTRODUCTION

Dr. Kevin Ahmaad Jenkins is a two-time award-winning national journalist, and health disparities activist, and is one of America's Leading Voices on DE&I Transformation. Acknowledged as a national authority in racism in medicine, Dr. Kevin has received a wide range of acclamation and recognition, including being named among the 40 Under 40 Leaders in Health by the National Quality Forum - and his contributions to breaking the social stigmas relating to racial injustice in healthcare have been featured in media outlets such as ABC World News and NBC. Today, Dr. Kevin navigates the fields of academics, healthcare, and corporate arenas as both a thought leader and consultant working with notable organizations such as McKesson Pharmaceuticals, Johnson & Johnson, McDonald's, Duke University, and the Virginia Department of Health and Human Services.

Please welcome to the stage, Dr. Kevin Ahmaad Jenkins.
