

Christopher Springmann is the host and producer of Life Love & Health, the award-winning health and wellness program that reaches millions daily on multiple news, talk and sports channels including Sirius XM, CNN, Fox, NPR affiliates, American Forces Network, HealthRadio.net and WomensRadio.com, and the companion production Life Love & Health Special Edition, which is broadcast weekly on HealthRadio.net, the leading health and wellness site on the internet. His highly-recognizable, persuasive voice is heard every day by millions of listeners.

The development of these shows by On The Path Productions is Springmann's latest endeavor in a journey of, in his own words, "creative convergence." Starting as a photographer for the San Francisco Chronicle, Time, Fortune, National Geographic and Smithsonian magazines, he moved into writing CEO leadership profiles for Chief Executive and California CEO magazines, which in turn provided the inspiration for creating Life Love & Health.

The idea behind Life Love & Health was to address a simple, unmet need by telling America's health story in entertaining and emotionally engaging ways, through the authentic voices of real people, including a diverse group of doctors and nurses, patients and their families, plus researchers and innovators in the health-and-wellness field.

"A desk is a dangerous place from which to watch the world," says the sign on the wall above Springmann's computer. He has always believed that looking people in the eye and listening carefully, is the only way to get the story and at the truth. Springmann's style has always been consistent, whether in photography, writing or broadcasting: Never lecture the audience. Instead, he relies on the credibility and persuasiveness of ...
