

Keynote speaker Craig Mitnick draws his experience from more than 20 years of extraordinary accomplishments across the legal, broadcasting and business sectors.

Craig received his BBA in finance from Emory University Business School, and his law degree from George Washington University School of Law.

He began his career as an assistant prosecutor in two counties in the State of New Jersey, where he successfully prosecuted major crimes over his four-year tenure. During that time, Craig also served as a certified instructor of law and procedure at two countywide police academies.

After leaving the public sector, Craig entered the private practice of law, representing a diverse client base ranging from high-profile professional athletes and Fortune 500 executives to lesser-known individuals, on both the state and federal levels.

Craig's success as a prosecutor and private attorney attracted the attention of several major media outlets, including FOX Television Stations Group, FOX News Channel, FOX Radio Network, and CBS, all of whom contracted him as an on-air legal analyst.

Craig's belief in the need for the delivery of truly local information through technology led to a momentous career shift. In 2007, he founded Nixle, an information and technology company that enables law enforcement and public safety agencies to communicate privately using interoperability technology. This innovative technology also allows local police departments, other government entities and local businesses to instantly make available to community residents - via cell phone - vital and geographically-relevant communications. Craig held the position of Founder, Visionary and Chief Executive Officer of Nixle from the Com...
