

The Wall Street Journal dubbed him one of the leading political commentators of his generation. He is also cited as one of the top 100 public intellectuals in America. Political speechwriter, author, journalist, and commentator, David Frum is at the top his game.

Frum is an expert on Canada-US relations, and leads discussion on social and political issues of the day. Whether it is the war on terror or the inner workings of the White House, David offers refreshing and clear insights of complicated issues. David Frum is a contributing editor at Newsweek and The Daily Beast and a CNN contributor. He is the author of seven books, including most recently, his first novel Patriots published in April 2012.

In 2001-2002, David Frum served as a special assistant to President George W. Bush. In 2007-2008, he served as senior foreign policy adviser to the Rudy Giuliani presidential campaign. Frum is a member of the board of directors of the Republican Jewish Coalition.

David Frum was born in Toronto, Canada in 1960. He received a simultaneous B.A. and M.A. in history from Yale in 1982. He was appointed a visiting lecturer in history at Yale in 1986; in 1987, he graduated cum laude from the Harvard Law School, where he served as president of the Federalist Society.

Frum lives in Washington, D.C., with his wife, journalist and novelist Danielle Crittenden Frum. They have three children.

To book David Frum call Executive Speakers Bureau at 901-754-9404.

David Frum

Speech Topics

- Media/News Journalists
- Economics
- Communications

Testimonials

"For the entire evening he held the audience's complete attention with his observations of political leadership, his commentary on the events of the day and his opinions on Canada, the US and world issues. Not all was serious, at time we were rolling in the isles. For the sellout crowd it was an ideal combination. Agree with his views or not, his audience reviews were terrific."

- Wall Street Journal.

"One of the leading political commentators of his generation."

- Conference Attendee.