

Timidly, at first, she dipped her toes into the pool of small talk. But, Fine soon realized that conversation, like most things in life, comes easier with practice. Now the formerly shy, tongue-tied “engineer” is an internationally recognized keynote speaker, corporate motivational speaker, trainer, and best selling author. A former engineer Debra Fine established her Denver based company The FINE Art of Small Talk to teach all variety of C-Level, manager, and stakeholder, along with the spouse who is dragged along to banquets and meetings conversation skills for use at business networking events, conventions and meetings, trade shows, as well as when interacting with clients, customers, and patients. Fine studied the art of conversation as diligently as she had once studied engineering. A member of the National Speakers Association Fine receives high accolades from her clients, which include Cisco Systems, Wells Fargo Banks, Hinckley, Allen and Snyder LLP, Spectra Energy, The US Treasury Department, Toyota, the University of Chicago Booth Graduate School of Business, Lockheed Martin, Vermont Law School and hundreds of associations including insurance, real estate, legal, financial, engineering/technology, health care, and Chambers of Commerce and civic organizations across the country. Debra is also a member of Rotary International serving on the board of her club during her membership over the past 18+ years. In addition, she is a past member of the Advisory Council of the University Of Colorado School Of Engineering, Mountain States Anti-Defamation League, and the Communities Advisory Council of the Junior League. Testimonials

“Debra's virtual program for our leadership group was engaging and fast-paced, delivering concrete tools for cultivating connections, building business relationships and expanding networks.”

- MPS Vice President, Business Development Parexel International.

“Debra's virtual training offered innovative ice breakers for launching conversations and building rapport with our customers. Despite zoom fatigue the program was energetic and filled with new ideas despite training with Debra face-to-face for over the past decade.”

- Director of Training | Van Cleef & Arpels Americas.
