

Given up for adoption at birth, malnourished and deprived of love and affection as well as solid food for the first 8 months of her life, Sue McMillin's life was miraculously spared. Her testimony of rejection, adoption, a storybook childhood, and 4 years of depression before God revealed His purpose for her life is a fascinating tale of how a life thrown away can be salvaged into a thing of beauty and usefulness.

Upon graduating from the University of Kentucky in 1968, Sue went into full time Christian work in Lexington, KY counseling students/adults and managing a coffee house. She's taught in an ACE Christian School and then moved to the Washington, DC area to gain business experience. While working for the Navy Federal Credit Union, Sue McMillan created her seminar/coaching business, With Time To Spare, and now travels throughout the USA and Europe offering her services to corporations, hospitals, associations, churches, and government agencies in developing strategies for organizing their work and life.

She has written 3 books and has had articles published in Focus on the Family Pastor's and Brio Magazines, Spirit Led Woman and the Godly Business Woman Magazine. She has also been featured in USAir, Washington Post Magazine, Changing Times and KY Living Magazines. 901-754-9404.
