

As one of the most in-demand technology experts worldwide, Katie Linendoll is recognized by a wide range of audiences for her reporting and frequent appearances as a regular expert contributor for major media outlets including The Rachael Ray Show, Hallmark's Home & Family, and numerous other outlets including The Weather Channel, CBS Sports Radio, Robert Irvine Magazine, and more.

In addition to frequent live, in-studio media appearances, Linendoll runs her own production company which allows her to shoot, produce, and edit her own tech news stories in some of the most exotic and extreme locations—ranging from a remote community in the Philippines in the wake of Super Typhoon Haiyan to NASA's zero-gravity training lab 63-feet underwater off the coast of the Florida Keys. Linendoll's cutting-edge technology stories have been featured as TV and digital segments and series on The Weather Channel, Popular Science, and Sports Illustrated to name a few.

Linendoll is one of the first women in tech to make significant contributions to the industry, starting her career at the age of 12 when she began coding and earning networking certifications before graduating from high school. Linendoll went on to receive a degree in Information Technology New Media from the Rochester Institute of Technology. Following graduation, she began working behind the scenes in production for ESPN where she won an Emmy Award for her work on SportsCenter and later contributed more than 60 written and digital pieces as a sports tech expert. Following her work at ESPN, Linendoll was nominated for a second Emmy Award for her work as a co-host on A&E's We Mean Business, a reality show designed to help revamp small businesses across the country. Testimonials

“Katie is a joy to work with as a part of our events. She is energetic, professional, creative, inspiring, and straight-up fun to work with. She puts her heart into everything she does. I am so impressed with how she engages with our audience, our executives and our event teams. I highly recommend her for any event.”

- EVENT MARKETING PROGRAM MANAGER, SAS.

“We first booked Katie as an emcee for a three-day tech conference that hosted over 3,500 attendees and an additional 1,500+ online. Our corporate client had never before hired a professional to handle these elements at their biggest event of the year. Katie not only exceeded expectations, but completely knocked it out of the park... so much so, that our client later secured her three additional times for this same conference. Katie is always well prepared, attentive to our clients' wishes, energetic on stage, relatable and friendly with audiences, ready to adapt to changes on the fly, and looking for ways to bring greater value to the people she serves. It's been a privilege and joy to work with her, and we highly recommend her for any of our hosting or keynote opportunities.”
