

Kindra Hall is an award-winning columnist, author, and national champion storyteller. As a former Director of Marketing and VP of Sales, Kindra discovered the most effective method for capturing attention and increasing revenue - great storytelling. Kindra's work has been featured in SUCCESS Magazine and behind the scenes in New York Times bestselling books.

A former board member of the National Storytelling Network, and with a Masters' Degree in Org Comm & Management, Kindra now teaches innovative brands and executives to close more sales, become better leaders and blow up brands with the irresistible power of strategic storytelling.

Kindra's speaking covers a wide range of topics. Audiences who experience Kindra walk away inspired and ready to use their untapped stories to capture attention, close more sales and become better leaders in a changing marketplace. Every keynote is designed to create meaningful, measurable improvements for attendees at innovative leadership conferences, corporate events, summits, seminars, and sales meetings.

Kindra Hall

Speech Topics

- Women in Business
- Virtual Keynotes
- Sales
- Retail
- Motivation
- Marketing

Testimonials

"This girl knows how to tell a story!"

- Bestselling Co-Authors of Chicken Soup for the Couple's Soul.

"You have a remarkable ability to keep an audience engaged... I never looked at my watch or wondered when you'd be done. In fact, I couldn't wait for more!"

- Amy & Jordan Photography.

