

Lisa Orrell delivers fun, motivational, inspirational, and educational programs! Known globally as “The Chief of Change”, Lisa is an in-demand Keynote Speaker, Certified Leadership & Success Coach, and award-winning Author of four books. As such, she is an expert on Leadership Development and Personal Branding...and how the two work together to develop a next-level Leadership mindset and create positive changes in workplace culture. Plus, Lisa focuses on edu-tainment, so her audiences learn a lot and have fun!

As a result, she has been booked, often multiple times, by many well-known organizations, such as: Pfizer, Salesforce, Wyndham Worldwide Resorts, eBay, Wells Fargo, Johnson & Johnson, Pepsi, PayPal, USC, Blue Cross/BlueShield, State University of New York, SHRM, and the National Diversity Council. She was even booked by the Government of Brunei, to speak IN Brunei, at their first-ever Women in Leadership Conference.

In addition to being a keynote speaker and author, Lisa is a Certified Leadership & Success Coach who works with Professional Women. She received her Coach certification through an intensive training program accredited by the International Coach Federation.

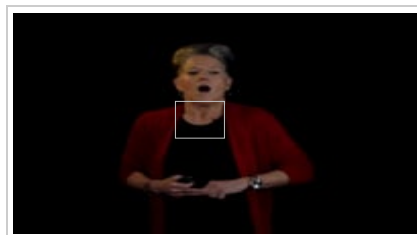

And, based on her expertise and notoriety, Lisa has been interviewed by countless research firms and media outlets, including (partial list): ABC, NPR, MSNBC, CBS, The NY Times, Wall Street Journal, USA Today, U.S. News & World Report, Human Resource Executive, Monster.com, CollegeRecruiter.com, CareerBuilder.com, and HR.com.

Testimonials

▮ “The feedback on your keynote is off-the-charts from the attendees at our Annual Leadership Summit! They loved you. You crushed it!” ▮

- Senior Vice President, Salesforce.

▮ I am attaching a letter of request to invite you to speak at the Professional Business Women of California Conference in Sacramento. You were one of the most memorable and motivating speakers at PBWC’s San Francisco Conference this year (attendance was over 6000!) and we would like you to please consider speaking in Sacramento. You really were awesome! ▮

- Associate Producer of the Annual Professional Business Women of California Conferences.
