

Dave Durand is the co-founder and CEO of Best Version Media (BVM), one of the fastest growing private media companies of the past decade. Dave successfully disrupted the print industry by developing what is considered “new print.” When print was failing everywhere else, he led BVM to become the largest company of its kind, with local and national print/digital publications specializing in sports and community themes. BVM publishes more than 1,000 magazines reaching more than 12 million readers each month. Among many other honors, Dave is the 3-time recipient of Glassdoor’s Most Respected CEO award and he was named one of the top minds in Personal Development by Warren Bennis’ publication. He has started many successful companies and is the author of several books.

Dave has successfully built, led and sold his companies by developing an expertise in culture building, process and scaling.

Dave is also a national radio personality, martial artist and private pilot. He is married to Tammy. They have 9 adult kids and 3 grandchildren.
