- Executive Director, Small Giants Community.

"In my role designing business conferences I saw about 150 speakers a year. Ryan isn't just one of the best speakers I've seen, he is also one of the most passionate and genuine human beings. Few people grasp the essence of culture the way he does and even less have his ability to inspire an audience. He is a masterful storyteller who helps others make a difference. No one can change the world in an hour - but Ryan ignites a spark in all those who see him."
