

Dr. Peter Boland has a 30-year track record as a national thought leader, forecasting industry trends and helping leaders think strategically. With a deep industry knowledge of healthcare delivery and payment models, he is a highly-credible expert witness, a thought-provoking speaker, and a consultant who uses independent fact-finding and critical analysis. He is also a prolific author, editor, commentator and publisher. Peter Boland received a doctorate from UCLA, a master's degree from the University of Michigan, and a post-graduate certificate from Harvard University's Executive Program in Health Policy and Management. He also received a certificate in Health Maintenance Organizations from UCLA. Analytical skills In his roles as an author, commentator, editor and publisher, Dr. Boland has contributed more than 90 works to healthcare publications and five books on healthcare policy and management. Through his independent consulting firm, Peter has worked with a variety of clients representing the following types of organizations:

hospitals and hospital systems medical groups and physicians organizations ancillary care service providers accountable care organizations health maintenance organizations preferred provider organizations pharmacy benefits managers pharmaceutical manufacturers insurance companies third party administrators Fortune 100 employers labor unions
U.S. military health systems technology vendors mobile health vendors consulting companies law firms healthcare foundations venture capital and investment companies professional trade ...

Dr. Peter Boland

Speech Topics

- Virtual Keynotes
- Healthcare

Testimonials

□ A dynamic speaker who tells the audience what they need to hear—not just what they want to hear. Peter's analysis is creative, insightful and ahead of the curve. In our experience, he hits the mark every time and really gets audiences thinking. □

- President, Washington G-2 Reports.

□ A great headliner for a discriminating audience, Peter's talk created a buzz that lasted throughout the three-day event. He delivered an effective speech and his name helped draw a larger than expected attendance. Our conference was a success in every way. □

