

John Kinde's customized keynote programs will spark a general session to open or close a convention or will brighten a banquet or spouse program. His keynote talks involve the audience, bond them with laughter, and always carry an energizing message. John's workshops focus on empowering the audience with practical skills to boost their performance and satisfaction to a new level. The workshops vary from one hour to a full day depending on client needs.

John Kinde's 30 years' experience assures a magical, memorable program filled with laughter and reflection. Achieve your goals with his strategic blend of message and entertainment.

John's motivational speaking programs are always relevant to the needs of his audience. From his pre program questionnaire to his interviews with a cross-section of people who will be in the audience, to inputs from your meeting planner, he links his points to the daily life of your listeners. Also, as an expert in observational and spontaneous humor, he often opens his talks with original humor targeted to the audience. Often these humorous observations come from the events which immediately precede his talk. Let John design a talk that will hit the mark and achieve your goals.
