

Ollie Avery Mannino has been referred to as a trainer, a motivational speaker, a humorist, and an organizational consultant. Ollie is committed to guiding individuals in assessing their personal, team, and organizational effectiveness. Ollie presents insights and strategies that are meaningful and applicable to today's challenging world. Ollie has spent the last sixteen years as President and Owner of Associates Consulting and Training Services, Inc., being exposed to numerous practices that can help individuals and organizations. Ollie has combined her work as a family therapist, with years of management experience and her unique training techniques to produce an interesting, enthusiastic, and fun manner in which to present and obtain important information. Numerous interactive activities are utilized during her sessions to encourage group participation and enhance retention and application of the learned information. Ollie has spent the last sixteen years conducting training sessions on a statewide and national level. Her audiences have consisted of business and industry personnel, including major national employers, hospital and healthcare associates, governmental agencies and officials, human resource and safety leaders, law enforcement personnel, childcare professionals, civic organizations, churches, schools, and educators. Ollie has conducted training sessions for companies such as Time Warner, University of Tennessee, Buckman Laboratories, Coors, Sara Lee, Amana, TVA, Nike, Coca Cola, Trane, Kohler, State of Tennessee, Memphis Police Department, ServiceMaster, State Farm, U.S. Naval Services, Federal Bureau of Prisons, Baptist Memorial Hospital, and BellSouth. She has also conducted numerous training sessions with ...

Ollie Mannino

Speech Topics

- Time Management
- Teambuilding
- Stress Management
- Midsouth
- Management
- Hiring