

Dale Irvin is a comedian, speaker and author, but is best known as The Professional Summarizer. As a comedian, he has appeared on over 100 national television shows including appearances on Showtime, MTV, A&E, HBO, and Oprah.

As a speaker, Dale reaches thousands of people a year with his message of laughter therapy. He is a Certified Speaking Professional and is a member of the Professional Speaker Hall of Fame.

As The Professional Summarizer Dale delivers up to the minute comedy monologues based on the events that have just happened. It is a one-of-a-kind presentation that his clients love so much they bring him back year after year. One even said, "What Billy Crystal brings to the Academy Awards, you brought to our meeting."

This program calls for him to deliver short comedic monologues to your attendees a few times a day, based on his version of what he's just observed firsthand, while attending your meetings and social functions. Your attendees will find his take on their sessions hilarious, as his material is clean, clever, timely and, of course, highly-customized.

Dale is the author of eight books including "Insurance As A Second Language." He also produces The Friday Funnies, a weekly look at the more unusual news stories of the week in written form and as a link to a YouTube video.

Funny Business Videos is Dale's latest endeavor. Imagine a monthly series of humorous videos written expressly for the insurance industry.
